

FIRST CALL FOR PAPERS

XI International Conference on Corpus Linguistics (CILC2019)

15-17 May 2019

Facultat de Filologia, Traducció i Comunicació

Universitat de València (Spain)

The Spanish Association for Corpus Linguistics (AELINCO) and the Organising Committee of this new edition of its annual conference are pleased to release this invitation to participate in the XI International Conference on Corpus Linguistics (CILC2019), which will be held at the Facultat de Filologia, Traducció i Comunicació of the Universitat de València (València, Spain) in May 2019 (15-17).

The special focus of the conference this year will be Corpus Approaches to Discourse Analysis. Corpus-Assisted Discourse Studies (CADS) has become firmly established as a research area, with a large number of publications, developments and researchers who have adopted it as a paradigm. It would not be risky to state that both Discourse Analysis and Critical Discourse Analysis have been enriched thanks to Corpus Linguistics, on many occasions through methodological synergies. It is our hope that CILC2019 becomes an ideal forum where researchers can analyse and discuss how Corpus resources, approaches or methodologies can help scholars in the analysis of discourse in any language.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

The following plenary speakers have confirmed their participation in CILC2019:

- Tony McEnery (Lancaster University)
<http://www.lancaster.ac.uk/linguistics/about-us/people/tony-mcenery>
- Maite Taboada (Simon Fraser University)
<http://www.sfu.ca/~mtaboada/>
- Alan Partington (Università di Bologna)
<https://www.unibo.it/sitoweb/alanscott.partington/en>
- Nuria Lorenzo-Dus (Swansea University)
<http://www.swansea.ac.uk/staff/arts-and-humanities/academic/lorenzo-dusn/>

The aim of AELINCO is to promote research on corpus linguistics. As in earlier editions of CILC, the conference welcomes contributions that may foster the development of Corpus Linguistics. These should fit into any of the nine thematic panels:

1. Corpus design, compilation and types.
2. Discourse, literary analysis and corpora.
3. Corpus-based grammatical studies.
4. Corpus-based lexicology and lexicography.
5. Corpora, contrastive studies and translation.
6. Linguistic variation and change through corpora.
7. Corpus-based computational linguistics.
8. Corpora, language acquisition and teaching.
9. Special uses of corpus linguistics.

PAPER PROPOSALS:

We invite proposals for paper presentations (20 minutes), posters (A1 format), workshops, seminars, and roundtables addressing one of the thematic panels listed above.

You may submit your proposals (a maximum of two), either in English or Spanish, starting on the date that the Conference website will be fully functional 15 September 2018, until the final deadline of submission 10 December 2018. Specific instructions and style sheet can be found in this link: <http://www.aelinco.es/en/cilc-instructions-style-sheet>. Proposals should be submitted through the EasyChair platform to the relevant panel, where it will be reviewed. Each proposal can only be submitted to one panel. Notification of acceptance will be 16 February (2019).

For questions or queries (including suggestions for workshops and seminars), please contact us at cilc.valencia@gmail.com

More information about CILC2019 can be found at our website: <https://congresos.adeituv.es/congresos/ficha.en.html?cc=514&>

You are very welcome to forward this information to interested colleagues.

Join us in València,

The Organising Committee of CILC2019

Miguel Fuster Márquez

José Santaemilia Ruiz

Carmen Gregori Signes

Paula Rodríguez Abruñeiras