

SECOND CALL FOR PAPERS

CFP: Submission deadline extension: 19th December

XI International Conference on Corpus Linguistics (CILC2019)

15-17 May 2019

Facultat de Filologia, Traducció i Comunicació

Universitat de València (Spain)

The Spanish Association for Corpus Linguistics (AELINCO) and the Organising Committee of this new edition of its annual conference are pleased to release this invitation to participate in the XI International Conference on Corpus Linguistics (CILC2019), which will be held at the Facultat de Filologia, Traducció i Comunicació of the Universitat de València (València, Spain) in May 2019 (15-17).

The special focus of the conference this year will be Corpus Approaches to Discourse Analysis. Corpus-Assisted Discourse Studies (CADS) has become firmly established as a research area, with a large number of publications, developments and researchers who have adopted it as a paradigm. It would not be risky to state that both Discourse Analysis and Critical Discourse Analysis have been enriched thanks to Corpus Linguistics, on many occasions through methodological synergies. It is our hope that CILC2019 becomes an ideal forum where researchers can analyse and discuss how corpus resources, approaches or methodologies can help scholars in the analysis of discourse in any language.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

The following plenary speakers have confirmed their participation in CILC2019:

- Tony McEnery (Lancaster University)
<http://www.lancaster.ac.uk/linguistics/about-us/people/tony-mcenery>
- Maite Taboada (Simon Fraser University)
<http://www.sfu.ca/~mtaboada/>
- Alan Partington (Università di Bologna)
<https://www.unibo.it/sitoweb/alanscott.partington/en>
- Nuria Lorenzo-Dus (Swansea University)
<http://www.swansea.ac.uk/staff/arts-and-humanities/academic/lorenzo-dusn/>

PANELS

The aim of AELINCO is to promote research on corpus linguistics. As in earlier editions of CILC, the conference welcomes contributions that may foster the development of Corpus Linguistics. These should fit into any of the nine thematic panels:

1. Corpus design, compilation and types.
2. Discourse, literary analysis and corpora.
3. Corpus-based grammatical studies.
4. Corpus-based lexicology and lexicography.
5. Corpora, contrastive studies and translation.
6. Linguistic variation and change through corpora.
7. Corpus-based computational linguistics.
8. Corpora, language acquisition and teaching.
9. Special uses of corpus linguistics.

PAPER PROPOSALS:

We invite proposals for paper presentations (20 minutes), posters (A1 format), workshops, seminars, and roundtables addressing one of the thematic panels listed above. You may submit your proposals (a maximum of two, either co-authored or as single authors), starting on 15 September 2018, until the final deadline of submission (10 December 2018). Notification of acceptance will be sent out on 16th February 2019.

Proposals should be submitted through the EasyChair platform to one of the nine panels listed above. Please check the instructions below or follow this link: <http://www.aelinco.es/en/cilc-instructions-style-sheet>

Instructions for submissions

An abstract in English or Spanish, between 450-550 words, not counting bibliography. Authors should present a main argument, aims, theoretical framework and some results. The abstract will be submitted to review and should be formatted in the following style:

- Title, centred, bold, font Times New Roman 14 pts,
- Keywords, italics, font Times New Roman 12 pts, below the title,
- Main text, justified, font Times New Roman 12 pts, linear interspacing 1,
- PDF formation,
- References to the author(s) will be anonymised,
- Bibliography.

For questions or queries, please contact us at cilc.valencia@gmail.com

More information at: <http://www.aelinco.es/en/activities/xi-international-conference-corpus-linguistics-cilc2019>

You are very welcome to forward this information to interested colleagues.

Looking forward to seeing you in València,

The Organising Committee of CILC2019

Miguel Fuster Márquez

José Santaemilia Ruiz

Carmen Gregori-Signes

Paula Rodríguez-Abruñeiras